Vijit Dua

My first blog :D

There are no blogs here... yet.

My first article is going to be a deep dive into the recent ASUCD and California Aggie controversy at UC Davis. I've already interviewed Ryan Kan—the senator who got kicked out of student government last year in a manner similar to Aaron Heth—and uncovered a ton of information about the whole situation. That deep dive will be my first official essay, with more coming soon!

> Update: This blog has now been posted and can be read here.

Other than that, it's pretty empty around here.

Because I'm too lazy, I haven't decided what else is worth writing about, and I'm currently juggling way too much work over at vijitdua.com/projects and vijitdua.com/experience

I did write some fun essays for my UWP 101 course in university, which I might refashion into my next few posts?

In the meantime, maybe check out vijitdua.com/about or vijitdua.com/music

Oh yeah, and subscribe to the blog mailing list below lol.
